"This ordinance follows common practice on the Gulf Coast now. We must conserve the water."

Little Theatre Comedy Hit

by Maybelle Van Trier
"Nothing But The Truth" can be chalked up as another Bay St. Louis Little Theatre success.

The players, after getting off to a slightly slow start, reacted quickly to audience response and except for a few almost inaudible sentences in the first act, the play progressed into an interesting entertainment.

Outstanding among the performers was Bob Bennett, played by Jimmy Kramer. His flair of comedy and stage appearance overcame the juvenile quality he brought to the role. His is a clear voice, admirably suited to the theatre. He gives evidence that with experience he will develop into fine material for future roles.

Others in the cast of the comedy, which was under the direction of Allison and Mrs. C. D. Blair, were Elsie Grant, Roland Weston, Bert Quigley, William Reese, Ethel Ann Raymond, Patsy Shadoin, Rosemary Milinary and Jackie Bufkin.

PSC Launches L & N Hearing In Courthouse After Compromise Is Rejected; Testimony Will Go On

RAILROAD HEARING—The public service commission is shown as it presides over the hearing between the L & N Railroad and the City of Bay St. Louis yesterday.

The three man public service commission began its hearing yesterday into the dispute between the City of Bay St. Louis and L & N Railroad.

When the cross examination began Stanley had been on the stand for almost five hours.

The commission cited the railroad to appear at this hearing in defense of the charges that, first, they were not giving Bay St. Louis adequate service; second, they were discriminating against them with the present service, and third that they discontinued the stopping of certain trains here without the consent of the commission.

The members of the commission are Ike Sanford, representing the southern district; Howard Little, representing the northern district; and Alton Massey, representative of the central district and acting chairman of the commission.

The attorneys, involved in the hearing are for the City of Bay St. Louis, Dan Russell and Mat Harper, assistant to the state attorney general. The L & N railroad has as its counsel, C. T. Coomes, assistant to the solicitor general of the railroad, and C. B. Arondale, Jr., of Mobile, Ala.

The hearing opened with the calling of witnesses for both parties involved. After a short recess to gather all the witnesses, they were sworn in. All but the public officials of Hancock County and three officials of the railroad were asked to leave the room until called.

Then a heated discussion began between the two councils and the commission on who should present their case first.

The chairman of the commission ruled in favor of the City of Bay St. Louis, ordering the railroad to present its witnesses at that time.

The railroad council explained that the examination of their witnesses would take over five hours. "Therefore," the chairman dismissed the city's witnesses.

The first L & N official to be called to the stand was R. A. Stanley, general passenger agent. Coomes began to question him off of a written document. Stanley's testimony dealt with the passenger service of the railroad.

He testified that for the L & N to continue as a fast service that it cannot turn through passenger trains into local trains. He said, "That is why some of our fast trains do not stop in Bay St. Louis. If they would stop at all places it would become a local train and cause the railroad to lose business."

An objection was raised by Dan Russell, when the railroad's council asked Stanley how many similar requests have been turned in to him regarding stoppage of trains.

Russell argued that comparing the situation of other towns with Bay St. Louis would not be relative to this case, since it dealt only with Bay St. Louis.

Attorney Arondale said, "This evidence would be necessary to show that the railroad has showed no discrimination toward Bay St. Louis. And it should be allowed since one of the things we are cited for is discrimination against this city."

The chairman ruled "objection sustained" and would not allow the railroad attorneys to continue with that phase of testimony.

Following this short deliberation Stanley said, "Automobile and airplanes have caused the L & N to show a material decline in passenger traffic."

He then presented as evidence a folder containing five charts. These were the decline in passengers from 1920-1953, the decline in passengers from 1925-1952, the distribution of inter-city passenger traffic in this country, figures shown the population and number of trains stopping in cities including Bay St. Louis, and lastly the passenger time table of the L & N railroad.

On the time table he showed that four regular stops and one conditional stop were made in Bay St. Louis by southbound trains.

This hearing by the public service commission was definitely set after a meeting held by the city council with a group of interested citizens Monday night. At this meeting they voted to refuse the compromise offered by the railroad to stop two trains for a period of six months to prove whether or not enough passengers used the trains.

At the hearing the commission ruled that the offered compromise would have no bearing on their decision whatsoever.

Sportsweek

By GREGORY FAVRE

Perhaps the hardest job and the one with the least glory at a school is the position of athletic director.

At St. Stanislaus, a member of the faculty, Brother Philip fills this post. Explaining his duties, Brother Philip started with the first sport of the year, football. It is his job to arrange a schedule for the team starting in December. The first step toward accomplishing this is to get together with the coaches and decide on a tentative schedule. That is the teams they would like to play the next season.

After this Brother Philip must then contact the schools chosen as probable opponents and see if they can fit Stanislaus in their schedule.

"That is the most difficult thing in his job. When you contact another school you have to write them three or four letters and talk to them on the phone the same amount of times," he said.

After the games are scheduled and the season starts Brother must then get in touch with the Officials Association and arrange for referees for the games. The Association sends him a list to choose from, and they try to get the ones be perfect.

Another headache during football is getting ticket sellers and people to collect them at the gate.

In October he must start on the basketball schedule. This involves the same kind of maneuvers as football, but more games must be scheduled.

Then comes the baseball and track season. "Track is the easiest," Brother said. "The State Athletic Association arranges the district, regional and state track meets which is the greater part of the worry."

His chores do not end here. To begin with he must abide by the state laws for high school athletics. On every transfer student is out for sports, a notarized statement from the boy's parents, the principal of the school, which he attended previously, his present coach and principal must be turned in by Brother Philip to the state committee.

He has to arrange for meals for the visiting team and a place to stay if they require it. He is in charge of all the equipment. That is the buying, caring and storage of school's equipment.

When planning a schedule he must check the calendar for conflicting dates either at the school or in town, and lastly he must prepare a schedule for the junior teams as well as the varsity.

Brother Philip, former athletic director at Catholic High in Baton Rouge and McGill in Mobile, is also line coach on the football team.

He said, "This job of athletic director is far from being easy. It takes a lot of time to get everything arranged he way they should be set."

He announced that onn new team has been added to next year's schedule. Our Lady of Victory from Pascagoula has replaced McDonough of New Orleans. McGill has been chosen as the Homecoming opponent of the Rockchaws for the coming year.

Brother finished his explanation by adding, "I try to get two year contracts from all the schools that we play. We work this on a home-home basis. That way the schedule is set for a period of two years."

She Dances Her Way Across The Nation In 'Oklahoma'

One of the season's early vacationers here is pretty Gayle Parmelee, who just a few days ago wound up a tour as one of the dancers in the road company of "Oklahoma."

Gayle, who is a slender blonde of 23, is visiting with her mother, Mrs. Reba Dorfingler and the Valentine Flanagan of Dumbur Avenue.

The accomplished young girl, a dancer since she was 10, having studied with several instructors in her hometown of Bay Orleans and then operated a dancing school for about 30 pupils for several years.

Since the trip to New York for the well known "auditions" in the middle of the exciting "Oklahoma" company which was preparing for a tour taking in cities in the midwest and East coast.

Since August she has battled blizzard weather in Rochester, embarked on Christmas Day in Miami, donned her costumes in a hole back of the orchestra pit in a Jacksonville theatre and the New York City Center.

Come fall and the time for her again with the other young hopefuls who make up the glittering world that is Broadway entertainment.

The soft-spoken dancer also is very keen about the new home her family has purchased here.

The change from the busy city life is just right, she says, as she explains her futile efforts to acquire a tan or chase down the rabbits which play on the front lawn.

Among the events she has enjoyed most while here was the barbecue she gave for her old pupils at the dancing school in New Orleans. They arrived en masse Sunday for a day of feasting and outdoor partying.

She will leave next week for New York, where she is anxious to check up on her friends who

Buyers' Mart

The bathing suits at Olen's are placed just inside the front door, so you can't be blamed in the least for fetching up at the counter and selecting a new one.

They have much to recommend them and are happily priced in such manner you don't have to think of this year's suit as a lifetime investment.

The most prominently displayed suit is a combination beach coat and play-swim suit. The coat is made of terry cloth or toweling trimmed in the same material as the suit, which in this instance is pique. The suit is patterned in a red white and blue combination or an aqua print. And the price is $5.95.

A $8.95 suit in a chromo-fabric zips up the back and is made in a particularly pretty check in several colors. The legs are cuffed in the popular and very flattering fashion that is stylish these days.

If you like a closely fitted suit with little fluff about it to detract from your swimming intention, Olen's has one at $7.95 in a crinoline fabric. It's perfectly plain except for a bit of lacing at the sides and is held in place top-side by a narrow strap which is worn halter fashion around the neck. This suit comes in plain colors, but the yellow is very gay and pretty.

A princess style suit which is good for the figure which either is or is not of cover girl proportions in a "Japanese" fabric in solid colors. This one is made up with an overskirt and separate shorts of matching material. It costs $12.95 and is draped about the shape with the aid of a back zipper.

The suit we noticed with the newest lines is a Lee style costing $10.95. It comes in solid browns, rose black and white and has a shirred effect in a panel down the front. The shorts are elasticized and the top, which has a little tailored fold at the shoulder line, is also decorated with a perfectly useless and entirely pretty flower made of the same fabric as the suit.

Swim suits manufacturers are, steering away from two-piece suits, so you won't find any such style at Olen's and if you are over five, it's just as well.

Sportsweek

By GREGORY FAYRE

Perhaps the hardest job and the one with the least glory at a school is the position of athletic director.

At St. Stanislaus, a member of the faculty, Brother Philip fills this post. Explaining his duties, Brother Philip started with the first sport of the year, football.

It is his job to arrange a schedule for the team starting in December. The first step toward accomplishing this is to get together with the coaches and decide on a tentative schedule. That is the teams they would like to play the next season.

After this Brother Philip must then contact the schools chosen as probable opponents and see if they can fit Stanislaus in their schedule.

"That is the most difficult thing in his job. When you contact another school you have to write them three or four letters and talk to them on the phone the same amount of times," he said.

After the games are scheduled and the season starts Brother must then get in touch with the Officials Association and arrange for referees for the games. The Association sends him a list to choose from, and they try to get the ones he prefers.

Another headache during football is getting ticket sellers and people to collect them at the gate.

In October he must start on the basketball schedule. This involves the same kind of maneuvers as football, but more games must be scheduled.

Then comes the baseball and track season. "Track is the easiest," Brother said. "The State Athletic Association arranges the district, regional and state track meets which is the greater part of the worry."

His chores do not end here. To begin with he must abide by the state laws for high school athletics. On every transfer student is out for sports, a notarized statement from the boy's parents, the principal of the school, which he attended previously, his present coach and principal must be turned in by Brother Philip to the state committee.

He has to arrange for meals for the visiting team and a place to stay if they require it. He is in charge of all the equipment. That is the buying, caring and storage of school's equipment.

When planning a schedule he must check the calendar for conflicting dates either at the school or in town, and lastly he must prepare a schedule for the junior teams as well as the varsity.

Brother Philip, former athletic director at Catholic High in Baton Rouge and McGill in Mobile, is also line coach on the football team.

He said, "This job of athletic director is far from being easy. It takes a lot of time to get everything arranged the way they should be set."

He announced that on new team has been added to next year's schedule. Our Lady of Victory from Pascagoula has replaced McDonough of New Orleans. McGill has been chosen as the Homecoming opponent of the Rockchaws for the coming year.

Brother finished his explanation by adding, "I try to get two year contracts from all the schools that we play. We work this on a home-home basis. That way the schedule is set for a period of two years."

THE CRAPPIE

Game fish, in general, are short-lived. The crappie, which predominates in Mississippi's public waters, has an average life span of four years. Under normal conditions a Mississippi crappie should reach 3 inches in length the first year, up to 9 inches the second year, 12 inches the third year, and up to 14 inches total length during the fourth year of its life.

Frank DeWine, Sr., of Talladega, Alabama, came down to take his son home after graduating at St. Stanislaus. Frank intended to do some fishing but the weather decided otherwise - however he did his share of eating crabs and fish where here.

Eddie Heath and August Rauxet are still catching those large speckles at the Keys. They made a large catch Saturday. Eddie saws it all in knowing how?

The fight Wednesday night showed too much Martinez against Chuck Davey - as it should have been.

Local fans and supporters of Dupas, New Orleans' fighter, were well pleased with the showing he made against Babe Herman Monday night. Frank Trapani says, "I told you so!" A large number from here attended the fight.

Earl de Marcey, his wife and daughter are visiting the Frank Trapani this week. Earl an ardent golfer is anxious to try out the new golf course over at the Isles.

She Dances Her Way Across The Nation In 'Oklahoma'

One of the season's early vacationers here is pretty Gayle Parmelee, who just a few days ago wound up a tour as one of the dancers in the road company of "Oklahoma."

Gayle, who is a slender blonde of 23, is visiting with her mother, Mrs. Reba Dorflinger and the Valentine Flanagan of Dunbar Avenue.

The accomplished young girl is a dancer since she was 10, having studied with several teachers in her hometown of Bay St. Louis and then operated a dancing school for about 30 months for several years.

She is on the trip to New York for the well known "auditions" last fall and landed in the middle of the exciting "Oklahoma" company which was preparing for a tour taking in cities in the midwest and East coast.

Since August she has battled blizzard weather in Rochester, New York, on Christmas Day in Miami, and then her costumes in a hole back of the orchestra pit in a Jacksonville theatre and generally had a fine eventful initiation into show business.

She loves it. The soft-spoken dancer also is very keen about the new home her family has purchased here. The change from the busy-busy city life is just right, she says, as she explains her futile efforts to acquire a ton or chase down the rabbits which play on the front lawn.

Among the events she has enjoyed most while here was the barbecue she gave for her old pupils at the dancing school in New Orleans. They arrived en masse Sunday for a day of feasting and outdoor partying.

She will leave next week for New York, where she is anxious to check up on her friends who have gone into the new musical comedies.

But topping her list of activities will be her entrance into the ballet school headed by choreographer George Ballanchine of the New York City Center.

Come fall and the time for auditions, Gayle will be on her toes again with the other young boys and girls who make up the glittering world that is Broadway entertainment.

Two Join

'Town' Club

At the meeting of the Town and Country Garden Club last week, two members were admitted Mrs. Alton Barber and Mrs. Jos. Kenner.

Mrs. W. M. Bozeman was elected Publicity Chairman. Mrs. R. Boudages won the entertainment prize.

Buyers' Mart

The bathing suits at Olen's are placed just inside the front door, so you can't be blamed in the least for fetching up at the counter and selecting a new one.

They have much to recommend them and are happily priced in such manner you don't have to think of this year's suit as a lifetime investment.

The most prominently displayed suit is a combination beach coat and play-suit. The coat is made of terry cloth or toweling trimmed in the same material as the suit, which in this instance is pique. The suit is patterned in a red white and blue combination or an aqua print. And the price is $5.99.

A $8.95 suit in a chromspun fabric zips up the back and is made in a particularly pretty check in several colors. The legs are cuffed in the popular and very flattering fashion that is stylish these days.

If you like a closely fitted suit with little fluff about it to detract from your swimming intention, Olen's has one at $7.95 in a cianese fabric. It's perfectly plain except for a bit of lacing at the sides and is held in place top-side by a narrow strap which is worn halter fashion around the neck. This suit comes in plain colors, but the yellow is very gay and pretty.

A princess style suit which is good for the figure which either is or is not of cover girl proportions comes in a Japanese fabric in solid colors. This one is made up with an overskirt and separate shorts of matching material. It costs $12.95 and is draped about the shape with the aid of a back zipper.

The suit we noticed with the newest lines is a Lee style costing $10.95. It comes in solid browns, navy, black and white and has a shirred effect in a panel down the front. The shorts are elasticized and the top, which has a little tailored fold at the shoulder line, is also decorated with a perfectly useless and entirely pretty flower made of the same fabric as the suit.

Swim suits manufacturers are, tearing away from two-piece suits, so you won't find any such style at Olen's and if you are over five, it's just as well.

WHEN YOU HAVE SOMETHING TO SELL OR RENT, ADVERTISE IT IN THE CLASSIFIED COLUMNS OF THE SEA COAST ECHO.

Virginia Seal Has Round Of Parties

Pre-nuptial parties honoring Virginia Seal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo W. Seal, were presented at social events of the week here, in Pass Christian, and in New Orleans.

Mrs. Harold Weston entertained at a luncheon at Corinne Dunbar's in New Orleans on Saturday. Some 14 guests were present, each receiving a corsage of white blossoms from the hostess.

The table centerpiece was an arrangement of white carnations and tulle in a large wedding ring. The wedding ring motif was further carried out in place cards.

Miss Seal wore a black linen dress with black accessories and a small white hat. Her corsage, presented by the hostess, was white.

Mrs. Seal Choose navy blue for this function.

On Sunday, Mrs. George Morre of Pass Christian entertained at a barbecue supper for 12 couples at her home.

Decorations throughout the Morre home were arrangements of white daisies with yellow centers. An arm bouquet of white daisies was given to the honoree, who wore white linen with navy accessories.

Mrs. Elless Cuevas, Mrs. L. L. Kergosien, Mrs. Milton Phillips and Mrs. Walter James Phillips entertained at coffee on Wednesday for Miss Seal.

The event took place at the Cuevas home.

In New Orleans on Thursday, another coffee party honored the bride-elect. Hostesses were Mrs. Mary Brooks Soulet, McConnell and Mrs. Evan Soulet.

At Youpon-da, the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Porter, Mrs. Porter and Mrs. P. E. Porter, Jr., a swimming party and kitchen shower, will be held on Saturday, May 29th.

Coast Leagues

Meet In Pass

There will be a joint meeting next week of the Coast Leagues of Women Voters at the home of Mrs. John Judd in Pass Christian, it was announced this week.

The member of the leagues, representing Long Beach, Bay St. Louis, Pass Christian and Gulfport, will discuss the proposed causeway and the new Supreme Court ruling on school segregation.

Advancement On The Coast

This past week the new stretch of four lane highway was dedicated in Pass Christian. This construction runs from Pass Christian to Long Beach. This is a great advancement for these two coast towns. It will give them full utilization of the mad-made sand beach that covers the distance from Henderson Point to Biloxi. This highway has added beauty to the Gulf Coast and will serve as an extra feature to the tourist attraction in this territory. It is truly a project that the Chamber of Commerce in the Pass and Long Beach can point with pride. They can advertise it as one of the most beautiful areas along the coastal shores of the Gulf of Mexico.

New Step

This week more than 100 students will receive diplomas from the local high schools at the various graduation exercises. These graduates who will complete the first step in their lives will soon be faced with the problems of the world. They will encounter the many "isms" which at this time have forced the world into a state of international chaos.

The members of these classes must be able to meet these controversies with a clear and sound understanding. They and the thousands graduating throughout the country must be the "leading force" in the fight for world peace. They must follow in the footsteps of their forefathers, who gave everything for the cause of liberty.

Above all, they must be strong and able to resist propaganda of the evil forces which are trying to rule the world. These are a few of the national problems they will meet in their entrance into the second phase of life. Of course, they will have many personal difficulties. They must use their training to solve them. But primarily they should remember that they are the future of America and all what this great country stands for.

St. Rose Defeats Bay Seniors, 8-7

Wilbert Talbot's double in the last half of the tenth inning gave the St. Rose de Lima baseball team an 8-7 victory over the Bay St. Louis seniors.

In the last of the ninth the Bay seniors were behind one run and Robert Ring, the catcher, stole home to tie up the score.

In the top of the tenth the Bay team was unable to score and in the bottom half, Talbot hit his double to drive in Bell with the winning run.

This win was Dawsey's third against no defeats for the season so far.

You have extra hours in every day—for your community, your children, yourself—when electricity helps with the work. Just think for a moment how many tasks it lightens around the house. It helps wash, dry and iron the clothes; cook the meals, do the dishes and cleaning.

It runs dozens of timesavers and conveniences—from deep freezers to bottle warmers—and does it all for pennies a day.

Electric service is a friend, indeed. It's always there when you need it at a low, low cost. When you stop and think about it, you'll agree: Electricity is the biggest bargain in the family budget.

PIGS

Pigs should be vaccinated at the right time for best results. Pigs castrated at 10 days to two weeks of age suffer little shock and heal quickly with little chance of infection. Older animals may be set back in growth as much as two weeks and are much more subject to infection.

Too often vaccination for hog cholera is considered a rainy day job. However, it is usually better to vaccinate healthy pigs about two weeks after weaning. Pigs can, if necessary, be vaccinated two weeks before weaning.

Just be sure to vaccinate on time so that pigs can produce satisfactory cholera immunity.

Don't let screwworms take part of your livestock profits. These worms feed on live flesh after entering the wound. They prevent the wound from healing. If not found and treated for these worms, the animal usually die.

Use precautions when castrating and branding during the fly season. Treat all fresh and infected wounds with either Smear EQ 335, or U. S. Smear 62. The EQ 335 kills both the screwworms maggot and the sult fly.

For more information about controlling the screwworms and other livestock parasites, see your County Agent and get a free copy of Extension Publication 214, "Control Cattle Pests."

do more work per day ... more work per dollar!

You save time in traffic. New truck Hydra-Matic transmission gets you off to smooth, time-saving starts without shifting or clutching. Imagine how easy this makes driving in traffic and on delivery routes! It's optional at extra cost on 1/2-, 3/4- and 1-ton models.

You save time on the highway. New high-compression power gets you up to highway speeds from a standstill in less time, and saves you time on hills, too. You make trips faster—and the new Comfortmaster cab makes them seem shorter. It's got everything!

You save extra trips, too. That's because of the extra load space you get in the new Advance-Design bodies. New pickup bodies are deeper ... new stake and platform bodies are wider and longer. Also, they're set lower to the ground for easier loading.

You save on operating costs. High-compression power saves you money! The "Thriftmaster 235" engine, the "Loadmaster 235," and the "Jobmaster 261" (optional on 2-ton models at extra cost), deliver greater horsepower plus increased operating economy.

You save with lower upkeep. New Chevrolet trucks are built stronger to last longer and save you money on maintenance. There are heavier axle shafts in two-ton models ... bigger clutches in light- and heavy-duty models ... stronger frames in all models.

And your savings start the day you buy. In fact, they start with the low price you pay—and they never stop. Chevrolet, you know, is America's lowest-priced line of trucks. And it's also the truck that has a traditionally high trade-in value.

Come in and see how much you're ahead with America's number one truck. You'll like the way we're talking business!

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Sellers who spend their winters at their home on Henderson Point are all packed and ready to drive to their summer home near High-lands, N. C., where they will be for the next six months.

Dan Russell had a fishing camp out on Bayou Coco on the other side of Kiln. Loula and Tony Spence had hoped to go to Europe this summer with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hutchinson, of Birmingham, Ala., Loula's sister and brother-in-law, but Tony could not get away so they bought Dan's fishing camp as a consolation gift to themselves and, honestly, they could not pos-sibly have had more fun in Eu-rope than they are having every weekend. Last week they took their boat, the Loutony, over to its new home. Their children, Er-nest and Carl and Evelyn, Carl's wife and their son Davy came over from New Orleans to help with the good work. The Spences have built a barbecue grill and brought additional furnishings for the big porch and the comfortable rooms. Pretty soon, there are going to be some all day canasta games going and picnic lunches for their many friends from Waveland and the Bay.

George and Signa Coiron and their children, George and Mich-ell, who was four months old last week, and Adele Coiron were week ending with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Charbonnet at their place in Lakeshore. J. F. and George were fishing in Bayou Caddy and the rest of the family did the crabbing.

Kay and Bob Boylan of New Orleans have rented the Ehrett home on the beach for July and August and will bring their three little children over. Kay's father Ford Braaselman, Kay's father and mother, will be over for vis-its as will Bob's mother and step-father, the Russell Kennedys.

Do you ever read the magazine Nation's Business? Be sure to read the issue of June 6th for a fine article about the story of the Tung Evelyn in the United States by Evelyn Griffith of Bay St. Louis and Ann Moreton of Biloxi, Miss.

When you write you never know when and where you are going to pick up the information that may be the basis for an interesting article or story. Marshall and Eleanor Ballard of Lumberton, Miss., were spending a week end with the Griffiths at Bonus Pines, their former home. Marshall is President of the American Tung Association so it is easy for him to talk about anything connected with Tung. Several things he said got Evelyn interested so she and Ann began the necessary research work. They read everything they could find on the subject. Visited the Hogalusa Tung Experiment Station, the Southern Research Station in New Orleans. Every Tung convention held within driv-ing distance, they attended and finally by talking to the delegates, listening to the addresses and checking the exhibits, they were ready to write.

Lots of fun at the house party that John and Gloria Ross gave last weekend. Their guests were Marcelle and William Crochet, Muriel and Fred Crane and Grace and Sherrill Overson, all of New Orleans. Crabbing and fishing just had to be done but the water skiing was tops. Saturday night they went over to the beach at Henderson Point, lit a big bon-fire and had a barbecue supper. Yummy!

"I can get it for you wholesale."

That sounds good when the man says it. But what is he getting wholesale? Trouble, perhaps?

It sounds nice when you can save $100 or so on something as expensive as a new automobile. But look before you leap. Make sure you're saving. There's a new subterfuge in auto buying. It's in bootlegging automobiles.

The so-called dealer sells you a new car for a chunk below list price and tells you that you're foolish to pay more.

Well, he's sold you that car—but has he sold you everything?

What about service?

When you're ready for that 500 mile checkup, does he have expert mechanics ready to do the job?

Does he have men with straight from the factory instructions?

NO!

And suppose that new car needs something beyond a little tightening. Then what? Does he have factory-made parts at his fingertips?

NO!

You have to go to a garage to get this car pay for your checkup. . . and you pay for ening . . . and you pay and you pay and

And then where are your big savings?

GONE - along with a chunk of money not have spent even if you had paid the bill for the car.

Think for a minute . . .

Why does this man sell you a car so cheap because he likes you? Or is it because of the corners?

He has to pay his rent - just as does every man. He must pay his employees. He must pay taxes. His water and light and telephone bills are delivered to him just as they are delivered to one else. He must take his legitimate share for his family.

So who does he save on?

He saves on YOU. On service you should get. On guarantee you need to feel safe in buying something as expensive as an automobile.

As a matter of fact, you may not even own the title may not be clear. That has happened a number of times.

How Can I !!

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove lipstick stains?

A. If sponging with carbon tetrachloride does not remove lipstick stains from washable materials, try rubbing them with a colorless grease such as white Vaseline jelly. Then sponge them again with carbon tetrachloride.

Q. How can I keep salad greens crisp and fresh?

A. They will keep crisp if prepared at least a half hour before needed and allowed to soak in cold water. They can be dried by shaking in a wire basket or on a towel.

Q. How can I give iron to the canary?

A. Place a rusty nail in the canary's drinking water and it will supply the iron lost while the bird is molting.

Q. How can I get good results when sprinkling clothes?

A. The clothes will be more evenly dampened if a small brush or whisk broom is used to sprinkle water on them. Hotter water can be used on the clothes can be ironed much sooner.

Q. How can I make linoleum last longer?

A. It will last longer if one is careful to wipe it dry after washing. This prevents water from getting underneath it and into the seams.

Q. How can I make good tea?

A. When making tea always use fresh water. Never use the water that has been standing in the tea kettle.

Q. Should new rubber rings always be used when canning?

A. Yes, as it is false economy to use old ones. Rubber rings deteriorate, so new ones should be purchased at the canning season, even though some were left over from last season.

Q. How can I save time when measuring dry and liquid ingredients?

A. Use a measuring cup for dry ingredients and a measuring spoon for liquid ingredients.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

Q. Is the typewriter now proper for social correspondence?

A. Yes, it is correct for many personal letters, especially long ones. Formal notes are preferably written by hand—and invitations (excepting engraved ones) acceptances, and regrets written in the third person must be handwritten.

Q. When salad is served with the main course at a dinner, does it have to be eaten with the salad fork, or may one eat it with the dinner fork?

A. Although the use of the two forks is considered correct, you may use the dinner fork if you wish.

Q. If men are sitting near, should a young woman offer her seat to an old woman, when on a bus or street car?

A. If one of the men does not offer his seat, the woman should.

Q. Is it proper to call on friends who have recently moved into a new home, even though you have not been invited?

A. If you are sure they are well adjusted in their new home, it is quite right to call on them. It might be well, however, to phone them first and ask if they will be at home at such-and-such a time.

Q. Several business girls I know ride on the bus in the mornings with their hair in pin-curls, combing their hair out when they arrive at the office. Is this proper?

A. No well-dressed or proper woman goes out in public with her hair in pin-curls.

Q. When a man is escorting two women to the theatre, does he sit between them?

A. No. If he did, he could not talk with one without turning his back to the other.

Q. The methodical housewife will have two measuring cups on hand, one for wet ingredients and one for dry. It will save much time.

Q. How can I clean woolen soapuds to which powdered borax is added. Rinse well and dry slowly?

Q. How can I keep fish from losing its shape while boiling?

A. Place a wire rack in the kettle in which the fish is to be boiled, place the fish carefully on the rack, and it will avoid the necessity of wrapping it in cheesecloth to retain its shape.

Q. How can I easily undo knots in children's shoe laces?

A. Keep a pair of tweezers in a convenient place for this purpose. It is much easier than using just the fingers.

Q. I should like to mail out announcements of my forthcoming marriage, but my parents live in another town. Since the announcements are issued in their name, should they be mailed from their town or mine?

A. The postmark is not important.

Q. I have noticed an ever-increasing use of profanity by both men and women, in the business world and socially. Is this practice more acceptable now than formerly?

A. Not at all. People of good taste, and certainly women, can surely express themselves without resorting to profanity.

Q. Is it proper to leave the little fluted paper containers around small cakes when they are served?

A. Yes, if they are not charr-ed or greasy.

Q. Should a boy of 16 stand when his elders come into a room, and should he remain standing until they are seated?

A. Yes, he should stand, and remain standing until they are seated.
